

Nuba is a collective term used for the peoples who inhabit the Nuba Mountains, in Kordofan province, Sudan, Africa. Although the term is used to describe them as if they were a single tribe, in fact the Nuba are quite diverse, and are made up of different ethnic and linguistic groups. Estimates of the number of Nuba vary widely; the Sudanese government estimated that they numbered 1.1 million in 1993.

Leni Riefenstahl, better known for directing "Triumph of the Will" and "Olympia", published a collection of her photographs of the people titled "The Last of the Nuba" in 1976.

The tribes of the South of Sudan need help Desperately.

Last summer I had an exhibition of some of my photography in Madrid in which I was able to make 10000EUR for the nubas. With the money we are reconstructing a hospital in the Nuba mountains in the town Kuyuria east of Dilling. On the 30th of December a truck departed with the doors and windows to finish the work on the hospital. We were able to pay a doctor (Awat Talodi Azrag) to work in the hospital during the next six months But, he is in argent need of surgical material and medicines. If you would like to help we ask that you send your donations directly to the doctor at: (Anotonio Cores 11 September 2006)

Antonio Cores was born in San Fernando, Spain, in 1936. In 1976 he traveled to Africa with his wife and son. He stayed with the Nuba for a long time and made thousands of beautiful pictures. (See his website Sudan Exists.) He also made one of the most beautiful documentaries I ever saw, about the girls of Nyaro dancing for the bracelet fighters.

「最後のヌバ」の頁をめくるたいいていの人びとはおそらくそれを消えゆく未開民族への挽歌のひとつとしてみなしてしまうだろうが、しかし彼女の手になる文章をよみながらいていねいに写真をみてゆくとナチス時代の彼女の仕事と連続していることが判明してくる。彼女によればこの部族の人びとは芸術精神にあふれ、美しい。「かれらは俗なる世の物質的な面よりも、精神的なもの、宗教的なものをはるかに強く感じる力」をもっており、儀礼をその活動の第一におく。かくして「最後のヌバ」は未開なるものにひかれた人間の理想の表明となり、「文明」の手の届かぬところで環境に純粋に調和している人々の肖像となるわけである。(...) 黒いヌバは、もちろん、アーリア人種とは異なるけれども、リーフェンシュタールの写真は、清純と不浄、肉体と精神、喜びと批判といったナチス・イデオロギーの大テーマの幾つかを彷彿させる」
